

"Power and Substance... the oasis in the MP3 desert"
-Mark Fleischmann, Home Theater Magazine

audioengine5
www.audioengineusa.com

Self-powered • Wireless-ready • Works with everything • 30-day free audition • $349 per pair • ☎ 877.853.4447

stereophile

EQUIPMENT REVIEWS ▶ COLUMNS ▶ FEATURES ▶ MUSIC ROOM ▶ NEWS ▶ BLOGS ▶ FORUMS ▶ GALLERIES ▶ VOTE ▶ LINKS ▶ ENEWSLETTERS ▶ ECOMMERCE ▶ CONTACT

FSI 2007 SHOW REPORT

System Audio Speakers Sound "Quick"

Posted Sun Apr 15, 2007, 11:09 AM ET — By Robert Deutsch

Canadian distributor Bruno de Lorimier (right), and the SA Ranger (middle).

System Audio A/S is a Danish manufacturer of loudspeakers that's been in business since 1984, but I must admit that I've never heard of it before—probably a function of the fact that North American distribution has been spotty. Listening to the new SA Rangers ($4000), I was convinced that the fault was certainly not of the speakers. The sound was open, with a wide and deep soundstage, and a great sense of "quickness." (The system used an Arcam CD source and electronics, and Nordost Valhalla speaker cables.) The SA product literature also convinced me that this is a mature, fully developed product line, with some proprietary technology, including a dome tweeter that weighs just 80mg, making it possibly the world's lightest. Pictured are S/A's sales manager Frits Dalmose (left),